I might add - we can keep one document with all the official comments easily enough.

I was just thinking it might be easier to manage one document instead of many comments in such a way that we can all view them and agree on them.

I'm not sure I can provide an exact statement on how long, because that depends on the comments we receive. I kind of suspect we really don't need to say anything at all, but I think it is a good idea to be prepared. Especially since we have been bragging about making no promises of being fair. An explanation might be warranted. I just don't want to send the message that we are trying to sway the opinion of those analyzing the schemes. Does this make sense?

I had to step away from my computer. Dustin could you forward these comments to the team, please?

Thanks and cheers!
